ACT I
CONTEMPLATION

Time is relative.
When some are just waking up, others are already halfway through their day.
Dissonant rhythms that show how each individual is different.
Particular little rituals that mark the passing of the day.

Perhaps the most symbolic ritual is also the one that brings us closest together - contemplating the sunset.
A moment that evokes tranquility and suggests new beginnings.
A daily opportunity to reconnect with the rhythm of nature. Calm, energizing and kind.

So, please, sunset.

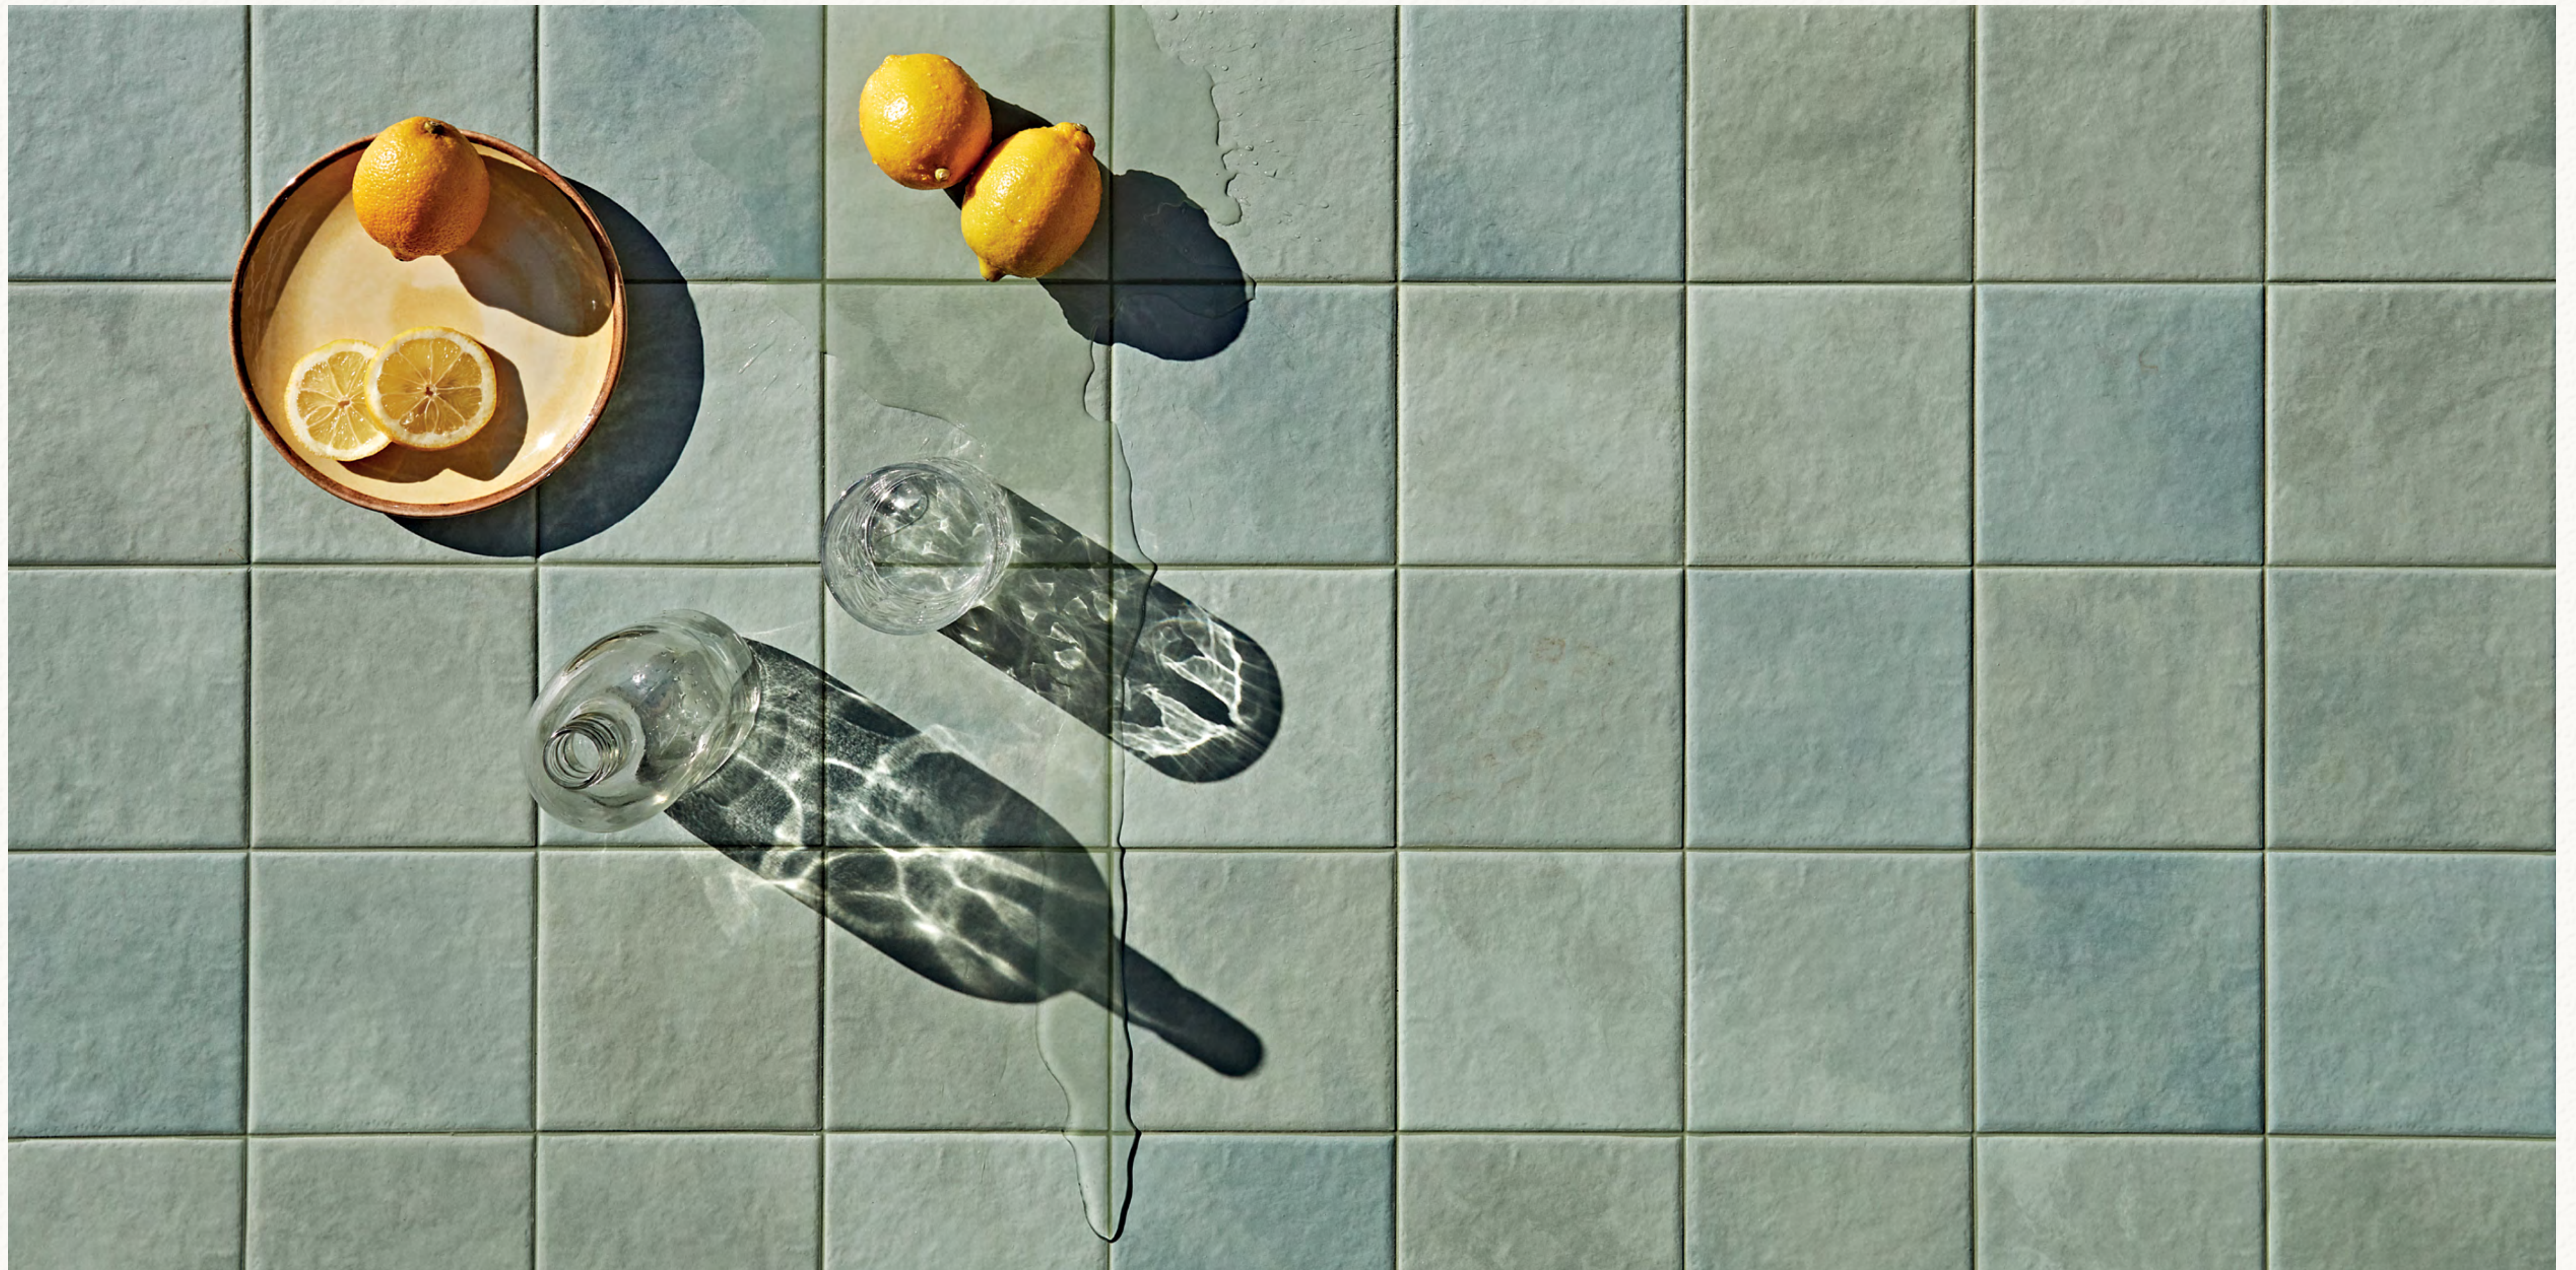

ACT II

SUNSET

A moment with an atmosphere so remarkable that it can almost be touched.

A spectacle that happens every day without every repeating.

The late afternoon sky, painted like a watercolor, creates a special atmosphere and exerts a strong magnetism on people. Sunset hunters - we have curated different spots where the sunset attracts gazes and cell phones to eternalize the moment that is even more special because of its ephemeral nature.

Cappadocia

Whether floating in a balloon or on top of a hill, it is sublime to discover grey valleys colored pink.

38° 40' 0" N 34° 50' 0" E

Honolulu

At this moment, the green of the sea takes on a deep, slightly grayish hue, while the sky is painted a vibrant orange.

21° 18' 25" N 157° 51' 30" W

Ibiza

Here, the sunset marks the beginning of nightlife. It is a time for celebration and also for enchantment, when the sea presents a more intense shade of green when it meets the Sun.

38° 59' 00" N 1° 26' 00" E

Rio

In Rio, the sun seems to play hide-and-seek between the hills, while the blue sea of Guanabara Bay mesmerizes even long-time residents.

22° 54' 10" S 43° 12' 28" W

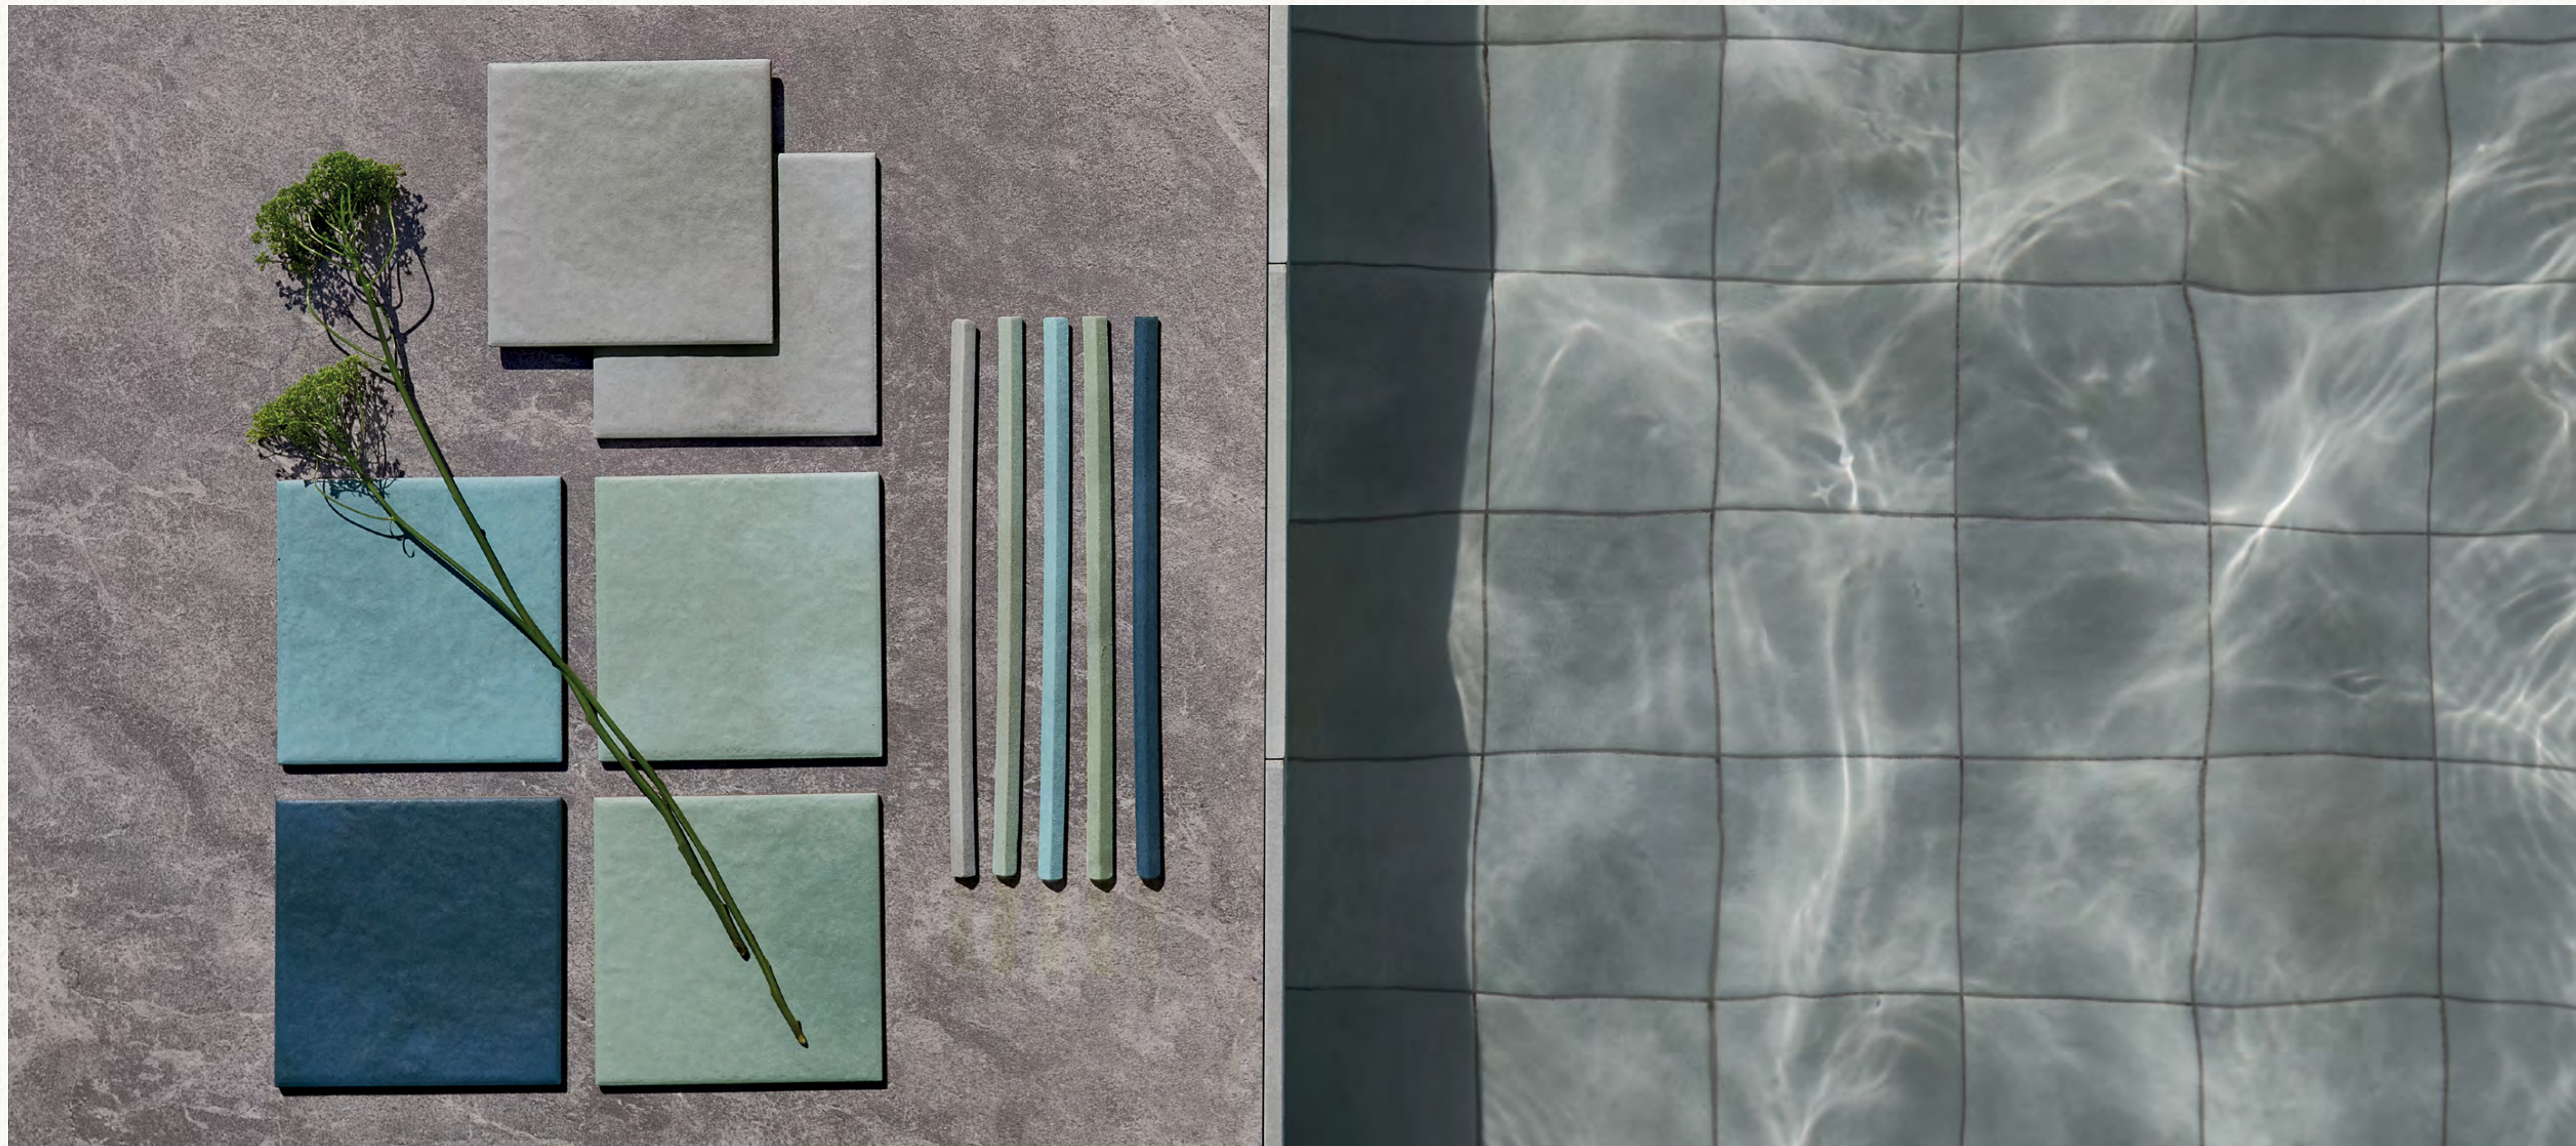

Key West

Where the ocean is home to incredible coral reefs, the sea is dark blue, and the sky at times is yellow in the late afternoon.

The sunset is always unique. Depending on the time of year, the tones, lights and atmosphere change.

In the hottest season, we can see and feel the high temperatures on our skin.

When the days grow shorter, the sunset reflects a slight coolness.

At the coldest time of year, it embraces the soul and warms the day, painting the sky pink even earlier.

Sunset, etc.

Our aesthetic exercise for every season of the year.
